Academy Policies & Expectations

Training Environment & Observation Policy

Sandman Combat™ is designed to provide athletes with a focused, supportive, and low-pressure environment where they can learn, make mistakes, build confidence, and develop independence.

Parents and guardians who are new to the program are welcome to remain nearby while their athlete becomes comfortable in the training environment.

As athletes become comfortable and capable of participating independently, practices become coach-directed training environments. At that point, spectators may be limited or restricted at the discretion of the coaching staff.

Practice is where athletes learn, experiment, and improve. Competition, testing, and events are where athletes demonstrate their work.

Instruction is provided by the coaching staff. Sideline coaching, instruction from spectators, or interference with training is not permitted.

Team Standards

Athletes are expected to uphold the following standards during training and competition:

Focus — Be present and pay attention.

Effort — Give your best effort.

Attitude — Take ownership of your actions and responses.

Respect — Respect coaches, teammates, opponents, officials, and facilities.

These standards help create a safe, productive, and positive training environment for everyone involved.

Acknowledgment

I acknowledge that I have received, read, and understand these academy policies and expectations and agree to support them as a participant, parent, or guardian.
